T.A.I.L. Offers an Educational Opportunity for the Tulsa Community

For the second year in a row, the Arabian Horse Association hosted a Total Arabian Interaction & Learning program for members of the Tulsa community. Over 100 participants joined a knowledgeable guide on a tour of the grounds that included a stop at a barn and in each arena. This year, volunteers Stacey Dunn from Chicago, Illinois and Chris Culbreth of Scottsdale, Ariz. offered kids an up-close meeting with an Arabian horse.

Chris Culbreth from Equine Training & Management LLC in Scottsdale, Ariz. explained to the crowd the significance of Arabian horses on many other light breeds that are popular today. Sshameless, a 19 year-old purebred stallion with an impressive show record received plenty of attention from Tulsa kids.
